

\Curriculum Vitae

Nicholas Brown
Ph.D. Student
Department of History
Catholic University of America
68brown@cua.edu
(361) 246-9640

Research Interests

Medieval European history, with emphases on religion and society, liturgy, gender

Education

B.A. in History and Political Science, Minor in Philosophy – Texas A&M University-Kingsville
(summa cum laude), May 2015

M.A. in History – Catholic University of America, May 2020

Work/Project Experience

Teaching Assistant (HIST 380D), Spring 2020 – Grading and directing class discussions in an undergraduate course on early modern Irish history, under Professor Samuel Fisher

Digital Humanities Project Member, Spring 2019 – Contributing to a project analyzing the construction of time in an anonymous medieval Pisan chronicle, under Professor Laura Morreale

Teaching Assistant (HIST 258), Spring 2019 – Grading and directing discussion sections in an undergraduate course on American history, under Professor Michael Kimmage

Research Assistant, Spring 2017-Fall 2018 – Indexing work on Peace and Penance in Late Medieval Italy, under Professor Katherine Jansen

Research Assistant, Fall 2015-Spring 2016 – Background research for article on UNSC reform and the Syrian civil war, under Professor Richard Hartwig

Research Assistant, Spring 2014 – GIS research on Richard Eden's Decades of the New World, under Professor Ian Aebel

Languages

English (written and spoken, native language), Latin (written, very proficient), French (written, proficient), Italian (written, working knowledge), Spanish (written, working knowledge)

Conference Presentations

Brown, Nicholas. "Reading Hildegard through Hildegard: Compositional Strategy in Theodoric of Echternach's Vita Sanctae Hildegardis Virginis." Accepted to Forty-Sixth Annual Sewanee Medieval Colloquium. Scheduled for April 17-18, 2020 (cancelled).

Brown, Nicholas, Daryl Jackson, and Hannah Jones. "Time in a Medieval Manuscript: Bringing Digital Tools to Bear in Historical Inquiry." Presented to Bridging the Spectrum: A Symposium on Scholarship and Practice in Library and Information Science. February 14, 2020.

Publications

Brown, Nicholas, Jeffrey Glick, and Nirmal Goswami. "Spirituality and Happiness: How Bhutan Views Governance and Public Policy." Asian Profile 46, no. 1 (March 2018): 13-27.